

A is for alike, look-alikes that is. Let's gather some things from around the house and see if we can recreate a Christmas scene.

B is book, book turned movie and butterscotch hot chocolate. Now that we have read The Polar Express, we will watch the movie and sip butterscotch hot chocolate.

C is cookies and Christmas carols. While listening to some carols, let's look through magazines, cookbooks and the internet to decide what cookies we will make this year for our neighbors.

D is for doggy treats. Dogs like Christmas gifts too. Today we'll make some treats for our four legged friends.

E is for evergreen trees. Plants and trees are important to our environment. We are going to plant an evergreen tree in our yard today.

F is for foster children. Let's make Christmas a little brighter for a foster child. Today we will purchase a present and donate it to a child in foster care.

G is for get well cards. Santa became sick in Pete the Cat Saves Christmas. There are lots of people who are sick right now. Let's make some get well cards to give people who are in the hospital.

H is Ho! Ho! Ho! Santa lost his laugh in When Santa Lost His Ho, Ho, Ho, so we are going to write some silly jokes to tell him.

I is interesting. There was some very interesting art work in the book we just read. Today we are going to create interesting art in our yard with colored ice blocks. Are you ready to create an ice sculpture?

J is for joy. Let's spread the joy of reading. Go through the house and find two books that you no longer read and that you think someone else might enjoy. We are going to donate them.

K is for kindness. It's important to be kind and friendly. Let's try extra hard to be kind to all those that we meet today. At dinner, we'll share what we noticed about the day.

L is for letters. Today we will write letters to Santa and mail them. Remember to list all of the good choices that you have made this year along with a special item you would really like from Santa.

M is for making ornaments. Just like in Mr. Willowby's Christmas Tree, we aren't going to let anything go to waste. Today we are going to make ornaments from our recycling bin.
